From the Principal

P&C Quiz Night today 6.45pm doors open for 7.00pm start
Please email me or phone us to reserve a last seat. No paper tickets – your name will be at the door. See you there!

Book week book donations
Parents are invited to donate a book (or money to buy a book) in your family name. All donated books will be decorated with a book plate with your family name and the date of donation! Students love to see their name in a book and this has been really popular in the past. Please give book donations or money to the library officer, Susan Catalano. Many thanks for your support.

Enrolments 2015
Letters will go out in the next few days advising of places.

Kindy: I have accepted all kindergarten applications that arrived before the closing date. These students will be reconsidered this time next year for pre-primary – rollover is unfortunately not automatic unless you are in our local intake area.

PP: All current in-area kindy students will roll over to pre-primary if they are remaining in-area in 2015. All out of area students applying for pre-primary are currently on a waiting list.

Religion
I’ve heard of a parent whose perception is that the P&C has a religious bias. I don’t share this perception, but have just surveyed the P&C executive group to check. Out of eight elected members, one is affiliated with the church and the other seven are not. I see no grounds for the perception, however if you have this concern, please speak to me about it to clarify.

Acting Principal
Charmaine Cook will be Principal for the next two weeks as I will be on leave. All the best for a good fortnight.
